This week, Meharry Medical School graduate Dr. Ruth Ross Edmonds discusses the importance of Meharry to Nashville on Take 10 on Tuesdays with The Tennessee Tribune with Social Media Director Jason Luntz. Dr. Edmonds, who is an orthodontist and owns Braces by Dr. Ruth, has been an entrepreneur for over a decade. In addition to Dr. Edmonds interview, The Tribune has a special issue dedicated to Meharry. She discusses the business climate in Nashville and introduces an exciting new device that can cut the length of time a person wears braces in half. You can watch the interview at www.tntribune.com
