Vehicle registration renewal increases mean Frank Gaines of Murfreesboro will pay $10 more for his two cars to help pay for transportation projects.

"Roads need to be built," Gaines said Thursday after he’d been through the line where residents pay vehicle registration fees.

"It’s important," Gaines said. "We need these roads,

Senate Republicans on Thursday unveiled their closely-guarded bill to overhaul American health care policy.

Weighing in at 142 pages, the proposed legislation would make cuts to Medicaid, end the individual insurance mandate, and cut funding for Planned Parenthood.

The Congressional Budget Office announced Thursday it aimed to release its analysis of the bill’s cost early next week.

"There are some nip-tucks here and there but this is not a Senate health care bill," said Paul Keckley, a longtime health care researcher who is reading the bills side by side. "This is for the purpose of limiting the federal government’s financial exposure resulting from health care reform."
